

Nebraska Association of Occupational Health Nurses

November 6, 2014

Greetings!

As we move into the holiday season and the close of yet another year, I hope this finds you with much peace and happiness as you reflect back upon the past year. It has been a year of change, turmoil and great expectations that have impacted our daily lives both professionally and personally. I hope as you reflect you will be able to find more positive impacts than challenges.

It seems our lives get busier and busier every day and just when we complete one project there is another waiting to fill its vacancy. Being affiliated with NAOHN/AAOHN provides many opportunities for you to network with others for guidance; support and sharing of programs, policies, etc that may make things easier. You will also find numerous educational opportunities from conferences to webinars. There are numerous advantages to active participation in the organization and the goal for the upcoming year is to make it even more beneficial and interactive. We can help each other through the busy lives we lead with guidance and support or a helping hand. Of course one cannot forget the endless personal and professional relationships and friends you will make by being an active member!

As we prepare for 2015, I want to be sure the board is working for you and we are in some way helping to reduce a couple of the challenges for you. My commitment to you is to keep NAOHN moving forward and a recognized leader within AAOHN. However, for this to happen, I need your thoughts, support and concerns be brought to the board.

Please forward your comments, concerns, thoughts, on how to make NAOHN a better benefit for you to my email cindy.s.kempt@monsanto.com.

I hope you have a wonderful, safe, happy holiday season and may 2015 bring many blessings and peace to all.

Sincerely,

Cindy S. Kempt, RN, BSN, COHN-S, COHC
President, NAOHN
